The Absolutely Pure

BAKING POWDER

Made from pure, grape cream of tartar.

Cream of tartar is refined and powdered acid of grapes, the most healthful and pleasant of all fruit acids.

Professor Prescott, University of Michigan, says:

"I believe that the acid salts of fruits are the most wholesome and important constituents of the food of man. Not all natural substances are wholesome articles of food, but cream of tartar has a high rank as such."

This expensive fruit acid is employed in making Royal Baking Powder because of its absolute wholesomeness, and because of its value as a food substance. Alum would cost but one-tenth as much.

Alum, however, is a poison, which cannot be used in food without endangering life. All cheap baking powders contain it. Think of feeding it daily, as the makers of the cheap, alum powders would, to delicate women and children!

"Guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty or not guilty?
Still no answer.
"Where do you live?"
"Don't live," was the low and astonishing response. Mr. Kanaskoski meant he had no home, but "Cousin" George Chase felt for his buttons nevertheless.

"No," was the answer.
"Don't you want to leave town?"
"No; I want to go to Ogden."
The police at this point were not sure whether "Kan" was playing a deaf and whether Kail was playing a double of dumb or insanity act.
"Ogden is usually considered 'out of town,'" concluded the court. "Go on."

Charles McFeeney and S. C. Altum, a couple who came under suspicion for wearing an overcoat, had been doing nothing for two weeks, according to the testimony of Sheets and Burt.

Mac said he had been "skinning" on the "tunnel," getting perilously near the word "Corey" in his explanation. To prove that he was all right he cited the court to the Leadville House, but his honor preferred looking for blisters on Mac's hands.

Heretofore all coal has been raised up a steep incline, which made the operating very tedious. He will obviate this difficulty by running a 30-foot tunnel in at a point about seventy-five feet lower down the mountain and tap the ledge on a level, and then run the coal out through this tunnel. He anticipates that this improvement will require nearly the entire summer in its completion. But little or no coal will be extracted from the mines before fall. before fall.

They have secured possession of a tract of land above town, near the foothills, consisting of about 1,500 acres. On this they will erect the necessary buildings for the raising of stock, and go into the business exclusively of breeding thoroughbred sheep and horned stock. The former will be made a specialty, and the farm will be stocked up well with them first, but cattle will be introduced soon, and probably later the raising of fancy grades of chickens will also be made a branch line. A portion of the place will be seeded this spring to provide the necessary feed. The anticipation of the proprietors is to make the enterprise one of the most extensive and important of the kind in the west.
